Our deepest sympathy to Board member Jeania Moore Burns on the loss of her father, James Arthur Burns, former Mayor of Alma, AR, charter member of Crawford County Genealogical Society and active in the Crawford County Historical Society.

Early writing and spelling

When searching census schedules, it is helpful to become familiar with a few different ways of spelling and letter formation. Until 1900, spelling was phonetic, words were spelled as they sound. To use any index or read the early census or wills, it is important to know the different possibilities as each scribe had his own style. The following are some examples of early penmanship.

A	A A A A A A A A	aa

As we expected it to be, the Spring Seminar was a good one. Russell Baker and Margaret Ross did their usual very fine jobs of teaching and helping us to refine our skills as researchers. Who says we do not have great professional talent right here at home? Russell distributed relatively new brochures listing the resources held by the Arkansas History Commission and available for public use. Margaret especially stressed not giving up just because you discover your county is 'burned.' There are alternatives, and good genealogists use them to discover what has been previously thought to be undiscoverable. We are indebted to them both.

Strangely, the Sesquicentennial Celebration of Texas has received about as much attention in Arkansas newspapers as our own celebration has. There is nothing wrong with this except it is misleading. Texas did not become a state in 1836! What it did was become independent from Mexico after the Battle of San Jacinto (Houston) in 1836. It took nine years and a hotly contested U.S. presidential election to make Texas a state. Arkansas collected taxes in the first five Texas counties west and south of the Red River for seven years after the Battle of San Jacinto on the ground that this area was a part of Miller County, Arkansas. It was 16 February 1846 when Texas was admitted to the Union. Since the boundary of the Republic of Texas had always been uncertain, this action led directly to the Mexican War. Let's keep the history straight.

This year is especially important in our own state's history. Our organization is pledged to complete the 1890 Tax Record Substitute Census. Please let Russell Baker know at the History Commission if you can help. Write: Russell Baker, Asst. Director and Archivist, Arkansas History Commission, One Capitol Mall, Little Rock, AR, or call: (501) 371-2141. For individuals, Bible Records continue to be the number one priority, since there is absolutely no substitute for them in the absence of official vital records in the early years.

Another 'first' for Arkansas is the proposed publication in August, 1986 of the 750-page, acid-free paper, 8 1/2" x 11", hard back Index to Wills and Administrations of Arkansas--Earliest to 1900. Pre-publication price is $28.50 from Mrs. James H. Stevenson, 2816 Maryland Drive, Jonesboro, AR, 72401.

You still have plenty of time to recruit a member in 1986. People want to be members when they learn what we are all about and how we can help each other.

MISCELLANY

Headquarters, United States Forces
Island No. 10, November 17, 1862

Captain Lovell
Assistant Adjutant General, Columbus, Ky.

Sir: I have moved my command, with all the commissary stores and government property, to the island, except the large guns, which the steamer Rob Roy cannot move, on account of her decks being insufficient to hold them. The guns have all been removed to the river bank, ready to be loaded and brought over as soon as we have any boat for that purpose. If the general will send down the O'Brien I think we can put them on her without any difficulty.

A few matters have been brought to my attention in regard to which I desire some instructions. A number of citizens here who have taken the oath have asked permission to bring down some small quantities of powder and shot for fowling purposes; the same in regard to salt and quinine. They asked to be allowed to purchase, in small quantities only, enough for their individual use.

There are two prisoners at Mr. Milton Donaldson's, near this place, who were wounded in the affair with Faulkner's cavalry. They have been in a very precarious condition, and were too sick to be moved, but now are recovering, and some disposition will soon have to be made of them.

There are also two men who were taken prisoners when this place was occupied--by name Seale. They took the oath, were released, and have been living here since then. One of them is very ill, not expected to live; the other is also in very bad health. They reside in Dallas County, Arkansas, about 150 miles back of Helena, and desire, if possible, permission to return to their homes beyond our lines. Can it be granted? They belong to the Twelfth Arkansas Regiment.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,

John A. Gordon
Captain, Fifteenth Wisconsin Volunteers,
Commanding Post

[from Lt. Col. Robert N. Scott, War of the Rebellion, Vol 17, Part V, Series 1]

1986 Update

The men in question were Rufus L. and Joseph Newman Seale, sons of West Allen and Mahala (Reynolds) Seale and brothers of Jasper, Perry and Newton Seale, of Pine Grove, Dallas County, AR. Rufus was born 02 Dec 1832 in Shelby Co., AL; Newman 22 Jun 1839 in the same place. They are in their father's home in Shelby Co., AL in the 1850 census. The family migrated to Dallas Co., AR, presumably about 1860. There are no Seales in the 1860 Dallas Co., AR census.

Both men were in Company D, 12 Arkansas Infantry, CSA. Both were reported sick at Columbus, KY in 1862. They must have been released, upon "taking the oath" near Memphis soon after. Whether they were allowed to return to their homes as a result of this letter is unknown, but both survived the war and paid taxes in Dallas Co., AR in 1890.

Rufus never married but engaged in farming and land trading in Dallas Co. until his death, 07 Aug 1894.

Newman married Sarah Ann ('Sallie') Peterson (07 May 1850 - 24 Nov 1929), daughter of Thomas and Louisa Coffee (Mahan) Peterson, and two of his brothers married two of her sisters. Newman became the father of a family of eight children. He was an active citizen of Dallas Co., until 27 May 1894, when he died.

Both men are buried in Chapel Hill Cemetery, Pine Grove, Dallas County, Arkansas. They were the greatuncles of my wife, Mary Evelyn Seale.

DOES THIS SOUND LIKE SOME OF YOUR GEORGIA ANCESTORS ?

"I have no exception to any person in town being at my Funeral but John Hardy, carpenter who I despise on account of his bad character, & as I hate all villains as I do snakes, I desire that my Executors shall turn that Scoundrell from my funeral should he have the impudence to attend it."

--Excerpt from the will of John Pettigrew, Savannah, GA, 1775

"As my wife Olive Derizous has eloped from me for about six years past, bequeath to her one shilling Sterling for poisoning me."

--Excerpt from the will of Daniel Derizous, St. Paul's Parish, GA, 1774

A young Irish woman named Alice Riley was the indentured servant of William Wise of Savannah, GA in 1734. Perhaps he treated her badly. In any case, she was accused of taking advantage of his being weakened by illness and then holding his head in a bucket of water until he drowned on 01 March 1734. Alice was found guilty of murder and sentenced to death in May of 1734. However, her jailors discovered she was pregnant. On 21 Dec 1734, she gave birth to a son. Feeling that justice had been delayed long enough, the court ordered her hanged, and she was.

To preserve and disseminate this kind, and other kinds, of information, the Georgia Legal History Foundation, Inc. was founded in August of 1985, under the leadership of a Marietta, Georgia lawyer, Lawrence Custer. COMPUTERIZED TYPEWRITER FOR GENEALOGY

The first article on computers to appear in an AGS quarterly (June 1985) dealt briefly with the advantages of using a personal (or home) computer for genealogical purposes. Just as many people were once reluctant to learn to type, many are now fearful of computers. However, if you already know how to type, learning how to unlock the potential power of a computer is not so difficult as it first appears.

For starters, do not be intimidated by the computing abilities of the grandchildren or the neighbor's kid. Believe it or not, the younger generation was not born with some never-before-known talent. They had to LEARN how to use these machines. So can you.

When I turn on my computer it says, "READY." Actually, the computer is lying. All computers are worthless without software (also called programs). Only after loading a program into the computer's memory is the computer ready to do what it was purchased for. When buying a computer, disk drive(s), and printer, do not forget to consider the costs of programs.

One of the first and most important programs to be purchased for genealogical purposes should be a word processor. There are dozens of these commercial programs available. The choice of which word processing program to buy may be more difficult than anticipated. In general, the more expensive the program, the more power and versatility it will have. Also, consider that the expensive programs may take more time to master.

In my opinion, the word processing programs that come with the thickest, but easy to understand, manuals are best. A good word processor requires NO knowledge of how to do anything more than turn on the computer. The manual will provide simple, step-by-step instructions, including examples and exercises for hands-on experience.

It should be made clear that word processing is more than just a computerized typewriter. With a word processor everything is typed in first, then the whole thing is printed out. Before printing you can make as many changes as you want. A letter can be edited without a trace of correction. A story can be changed from a rough draft into a final copy with only a few changes. Any line can be changed, entire paragraphs can be moved or erased, and text can be manipulated in numerous other ways. Pages can be automatically numbered.

The key benefit of using a word processor is that corrections and revisions are easily made, even if the document was first typed months before. A 100-page book may fit on a single 5 1/4" floppy diskette. If new information is discovered, adding it wherever it fits is a simple process. Because of the computer's capabilities many hours of tedious retyping are eliminated by using a word processor.

I especially enjoy being able to keep an exact copy of letters I write to other researchers. I have dozens of letters on one diskette. Before sending a second letter I can review what I wrote in a previous one. Not infrequently I make a few simple changes to an old letter, print it, and send the new version to a newly discovered researcher, all in a few minutes.

For me, the word processing program alone makes the computer worth the money I spent. However, there are also many other uses for the computer that a genealogist would find helpful. Genealogy is much simpler with the aid of a home computer. Now I would not wish to be without a computer any more than without a washing machine or lawn mower.

I have my own opinions about which computer system is best. I will gladly answer questions from anyone who will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

DALLAS COUNTY REVIEW

by
Roberta Hollis

Dallas County (Arkansas) was formed in the fall of 1844 by the State Legislature and was officially established January 1, 1845. It was taken from portions of Clark and Bradley Counties and was named in honor of George M. Dallas, Vice-President of the United States 1845-49.

Dallas County is located in the south-central part of Arkansas. The first settlers came into the area in the 1830's and settled the Tulip area, followed by settlers into the Princeton and Holly Springs areas.

The home of Presley Watts was the temporary seat of justice in Dallas County, as provided in Section 6 of the Act which created the new county. The first county officials were named January 27, 1845 and commissioned on February 6, 1845, as follows: Presley Watts, clerk; Peyton S. Bethell, sheriff; John H. Watts, treasurer; John T. Craig coroner; W. R. McCoy, surveyor; William Owens, presiding judge. Mr. McCoy and Mr. Owens resigned and elected to replace them were Hawes H. Coleman, presiding judge, and Joseph Gray, surveyor.

Judge Coleman presided at the first county court which was held in the home of Watts on June 25, 1845. Mr. Gray laid off the new town which had first been named Dallaston but was changed to Princeton in November 1845.

In July 1846 the county court provided for the construction of the first courthouse and Moses Overton was the low bidder at $344.91. The first courthouse was a log building located on the east edge of the "public square." A jail was built in 1848-49.

The first house in Princeton was that of Esquire A. Ramsay who came to Arkansas from South Carolina in 1842, when the entire country was a wilderness and neighbors were considered neighbors even though they lived ten to fifteen or more miles apart. Squire Ramsay helped to open the road which became known as the Princeton Pike, which ran between Princeton and Pine Bluff. Princeton is situated at the crossing of the highways between Little Rock and Camden and Little Rock and Arkadelphia.

The oldest house still standing at Princeton, and perhaps all Dallas County, is known as the Woods' house (1976). A three room residence built in 1842 by Jo Gray with hand dressed lumber and put together with pegs and square nails, it was owned by 1845 by Presley Watts. This house was added on to through the years and by the turn of the century it had 18 rooms and was known as the Wood's House, serving as a residence as well as hotel. It now (1976) has 16 rooms. Two rear rooms in an 'L' shape were removed.

In October, 1848, a petition was presented to the county court for an appropriation for the purpose of purchasing a graveyard near to and adjacent to the town of Princeton. The court appropriated $10.00. G.G. Lea, M. M. Duffie and H. M. Dedman were commissioned to bargain for the purchase of the land located about one-half mile southeast from the town of Princeton. The grave with the oldest headstone is that of William J. Suggs, 1821-1849.

The first census of the new county was taken in 1850 and showed the population to number 6,877 and by 1860, the count was 8,283. After the war between the states, the population dropped to a low of 5,707 (1870 census).

Tulip is the oldest settled community in Dallas County. The first known recorded event of Tulip Ridge was that of William Dunbar and his exploring party who went into the area in 1804. Moses Overton was the first pioneer settler who came about 1828 to build his home on what became known as Chapel Ridge. He was followed in 1833 by Tyre Brown, a wealthy Tennessee planter who built a home with planks cut from logs held in a slanting position by two Negroes and sawed by two others with what was called a whip saw. This house stood until the early 1900's. Mr. Brown began farming a large plantation in the fertile bottom land. The area was called Brownsville and the second Post Office in the County was assigned to Tyre Brown in December, 1845, and he served until April, 1847. Mail was brought by stage coach each week.

The loveliness and fertility of the lands brought many planters within a short time. Some were people of great wealth. Among the most prominent were the Smiths from Tennessee and the Carolinas. Col. Maurice Smith, Samuel H. Smith, William Smith, Samuel W. Smith, Alexander Smith and Richard Smith built their homes here and the settlement became known (naturally) as Smithville. Later the name was changed to Tulip, known as the Garden Spot of Arkansas.

Tulip was laid out as a town March 13, 1845 by Joseph Gray. Those present were: Col. William Bayless, Col. Maurice Smith, T. H. Brown, Peyton S. Bethel and Dr. William P. Bethel. It was never incorporated as a town, since all who lived within a radius of fifteen miles insisted that they be considered within the town!

Most of the families owned large plantations with large, attractive homes, enhanced by tall oak trees with cedar trees bordering the long walks. Tulip was renowned for its refined, well-educated, wealthy way of life.

Col. William Bayless built the first store in the town. Dr. William Pickney Bethel built the first school house and also started a Sunday School in 1847. There were the usual shops, apothecaries, doctors' offices, lawyers' offices and livery stables and smithys. Dr. Lewis D. Cooper was the first physician in Tulip. George Doty owned the livery stable and the blacksmith shop. L. D. Lipscomb owned a tailor shop and William H. Hunter, James A. Pattille, Carpenter Brothers and A. G. and Drury Neville all had shops in the town. Drs. William Bethell and James A. Cooksey had offices there. James Pryor was the shoemaker and the huge boarding house was operated by Major Borden.

There were families bearing the names of Eaton, Lea, McNail, Pryor, Reid, Wilson, Pattille, Butler, Green, Matlock, Bayless, Thrasher, Grant, Barbee, Jones, Doty, Hughes, Hunter, Cheatham, Boyd, Cooper, Reamey and Bethel.

Tulip was a terminal for the Chidester Stage, owned by Col. Chidester of Camden, which ran between Camden and Little Rock.

The residents of Tulip were well educated and considered schools to be of first importance. In the early 1840's a French woman, Madame D'Estimarille opened a school for young ladies. For this reason many wealthy planters from Louisiana located here for the summer season. This French preceptress proved to be of poor moral fiber and the community removed her. A Presbyterian minister, John Pryor, began a small Female Academy in the mid 1840's. The young men had to rely entirely on tutors. In 1849 George Douglas Alexander, a native of Campbell County, Virginia, arrived and established the Alexander Institute in August of that year. The Institute flourished and the young man returned to Virginia in 1850 and brought back a young man, Thomas O. Benton, graduate of the Military Institute at Lexington, to assist him. Later the name was changed and the Arkansas Military Institute, a first in Arkansas, was chartered by the Legislature on December 18, 1850. The Legislature also chartered the Tulip Female Collegiate Seminary on Dec. 17, 1850. The faculty of the Institute consisted of: Col. George D. Alexander, Maj. Thos. O. Benton, Weldon E. Wright, Maj. Benj. J. Borden. Forty-two pupils attended this first session of the Institute and those pupils mentioned were Angus M. McNeill, Wm. N. Smith, George J. Byrd, James E. Caldwell, N.D. Flourney, Robert Bethel and William G. Daniel.

Many physicians, lawyers, statesmen and engineers whose names later became well known received at least part of their education in this school. Because of the cultural advantages, Tulip became known as the "Athens of Arkansas."

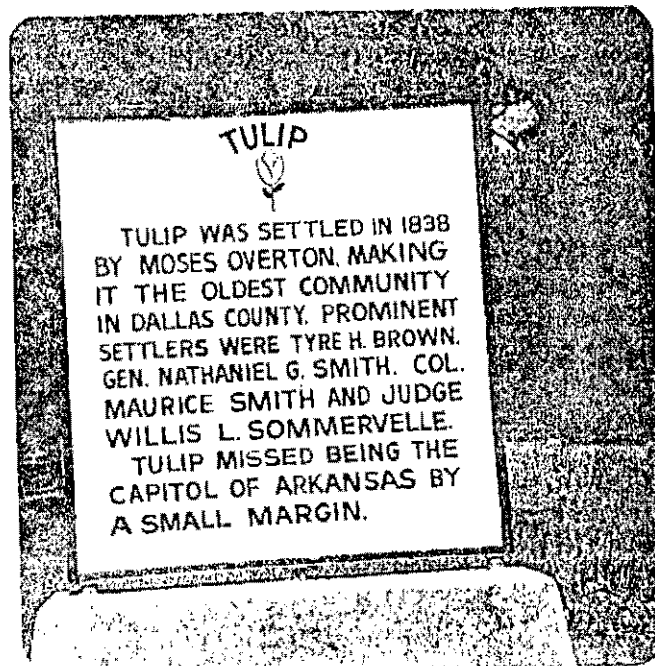

Holly Springs was settled early, also. The first settlers came into the area about 1841 when this was still a part of Clark County. Some of the first settlers were the Launiuses, Houses, Keys, Crownovers, Catlings, Heads, Proctors, Stells, Beards, Henrys, Petersons, Chambers and Sorrells. Joe Key built the first grist mill at Holly Springs and then added a saw mill and a "Spinning Jinny" that carded the rolls of wool and spun them into threads on large spools. He later built a wool carding factory and people from a wide area brought their wool to Holly Springs to be carded. He also had a tannery and sold leather for making shoes. During the Civil War, Mr. Key made shoes for the soldiers.

The Masonic Fraternity has always played a great part in the culture of Dallas County. Tulip Lodge was established in 1848; St. John's Lodge No. 38 of Holly Springs was organized April 17, 1850.

The first railroad to touch Dallas County was the St. Louis & Texas (Cotton Belt) which came in 1882 and crossed the southeast corner from Pine Bluff to Camden and resulted in the formation of a new town, Fordyce, named for Samuel W. Fordyce, an official of the Railroad Company. Because of the business progress, attributed to the railroad, Fordyce was proclaimed the County Seat some time later.

All of the preceding material relating to the early establishment of the County of Dallas, Arkansas, has been abstracted from the Bicentennial Edition of the Fordyce News-Advocate, published Wednesday, November 10, 1976, at Fordyce, Arkansas 71742. The cost is 50 cents and copies may still be available. There are 50 pages in the four sections, and there is much detail about the early families who came in the 1840-50's. Anyone with roots in Dallas County would enjoy this issue of historical facts.

An Annual Community Homecoming is sponsored by the Tulip Presbyterian Church and is held on the first Sunday in October. The 27th annual event was held in 1985. Our thanks to Selina Caughman Rodgers of Hot Springs, AR, for supplying us with information on the homecoming and sharing newspaper articles that we will pass on to you in the future.

Gov. Hughes commuted the following sentences yesterday; Reuben Williams of Miller county, sent up for 18 months for grand larceny, 36 days; Warren Jackson of Calhoun county, sent up for 1 year for grand larceny, 24 days; Geo. Fennell, of Lee county, 1 year for grand larceny, 24 days; Lewis Gibbons, of Sebastian county, 7 1/2 years for perjury, 180 days; _____ Turner, from Prairie county, 6 years, for forgery, 144 days. These men have served up their commutations, and will be turned out of the penitentiary this week and next. Ark. Gazette, March 31, 1885, p1, c6.

ALLEN WEST, who was run over and killed by the Pine Bluff train Saturday night near Wrightsville, was a saw-mill man living in the vicinity. The engineer saw him lying on the track and tried to stop the train, but the distance was too short. The engine struck him first in the head, turning him around; then a number of cars ran over his body. He was terribly mashed. Ark. Gazette, Tues. March 31, 1885, p1, c6.

TEXARKANA, March 30 - last night on Whittaker's plantation, eight miles west of here, James T. Turner, a prominent colored man, was set upon by two of his own race, who broke his skull with a four by six inch scar thing, killing him in short order. Both of the bloody murderers were captured and jailed. Ark. Gazette, March 31, 1885, p1, c5.

ROBERT BROWNLEE

We have received the following information from Beth Brownlee, who states that this is not her Brownlee line, but is interesting for our members since this Robert Brownlee was the builder and first owner (James was the second) of the small brick house "within the fence" at the Territorial Capitol - the one behind the "tavern", and that Robert worked on the capitol of North Carolina and our own first state capitol. Thomas and Mary were married in Little Rock. Accounts are at court house and in local papers. Their first child is buried in Mount Holly Cemetery, an item not listed in their genealogy here. She does have a marker and accounts of birth were in local papers. Robert owned a "lot of land" in Pulaski and Saline counties.

Robert Brownlee was born Apr. 24, 1813; Boukle, Lanarkshire, Scotland. He died Nov. 19, 1897; Sunny Side, Napa, California. His father was Alexander Brownlee, b. Dec. 14, 1762, Scotland, d. and b. Scotland. Alexander m. Margaret Russell, b. Aug. 13, 1776, Scotland; she d. and b. Scotland.

Robert married Annie Lamont Oct. 26, 1852, 338 Hudson St., Jne York. She was b. June 2, 1834, Strath Ardle, Perthshire, Scotland, d. June 23, 1901, Sunny Side, Napa, California. Her father Alexander Lamont, b. April 2, 1796, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, d. May 18, 1887, b. Vallejo, Solano Co., California. Alexander m. Elspeth Cameron, b. Aug. 5, 1800, Strath Ardle, Perthshire, Scotland. She d. 1877, Sunny Side Farm, Napa Co., CA, b. Vallejo, Solano Co. Calif.

In 1843 Robert Brownlee paid taxes on 1 town lot - Lot 9, Bock 31 - this is the lot behind Jesse Hinderliter house (the tavern mentioned earlier), now a part of Territorial Restoration. This brick building is known as the Noland House, and was probably built by Robert Brownlee. The tax records show that Robert Brownlee paid taxes on the property as early as 1843. James Brownlee paid taxes on same lot in 1846 and 1847.

Brothers and sisters of Robert, all born in Scotland, were:

1. William Brownlee, b. Oct. 6, 1796
2. John Brownlee, b. Feb. 17, 1799
3. Jana Brownlee, b. Dec. 17, 1800
4. Margaret Brownlee, b. April 6, 1802
5. Alexander Brownlee, b. Jan. 16, 1804
6. Grizzel (Grace) Brownlee, b. April 29, 1806
7. Janet Brownlee, b. June 14, 1808
8. James Brownlee, b. Oct. 21, 1810
9. Thomas Brownlee, b. Mar. 6, 1816, m. Mary Lamont; d. Feb. 24, 1884

Brothers and sisters of Annie Lamont:

1. Mary Lamont, b. April 2, 1828 at Strath Ardle, Perthshire, Scotland, d. 1903, Vallejo, California; m. Thomas Brownlee, buried Carquinez Cemetery. Mary Lamont and Thomas Brownlee were married in Pulaski Co., Arkansas on 29 June 1849. According to articles in the Arkansas Gazette and Democrat, the wedding ceremony took place at the residence of James Brownlee and was performed by Joshua F. Green. In the 1850 Pulaski County census, Thomas and Mary are listed in Residence D-657 and Ann Lamont, age 16, is in the same household. His brother, James, and wife, Isabella, were living nearby and enumerated as D-653.

James and Thomas occupation was blacksmith, and James owned a livery stable.

2. James A. Lamont, b. July 9, 1842, Bedford Ohio, d. Dec. 20, 1907 Vallejo, Calif., m. Sarah D. Barry of San Francisco.

Children, grand children, etc., of Robert Brownlee:

1. Robert A. Brownlee, b. Oct. 14, 1855, Vallejo, Calif., d. June 1917, San Francisco, Calif., m. July 29, 1896 to Anne Hatt of Napa, California.

2. Mary Jane Brownlee, b. Aug. 1, 1855 at Vallejo California, d. June 1909, at Sacramento, California, m. 1878 to Thomas J. Urquhart at Sunny Side Farm, Napa Co., Calif. T. J. Urquhart, whose parents were Scotch Canadians, was first assistant superintendent of the Southern Pacific Railroad, with offices in Sacramento. Later he was made superintendent of the Southern Division, headquarters at Mojave. He died 1888.

Children: 1. Bessie Cameron Urquhart, b. Mar. 23, 1880 at Sacramento, m. James G. Leitch of Sacramento. Ch: 1. Jane Brownlee Leitch, b. Oct. 22, 1911, Sacramento.

2. Robert Frazier Urquhart, b. Jan. 5, 1883 in Sacramento, m. Esther Burchard. Ch: 1. Dorothy Ann Urquhart, b. 1919 in Sacramento; 2. Robert Urquhart, b. 1921 in Sacramento.

3. Margaret Russell Brownlee, b. June 4, 1857 in Vallejo, California, d. Sept. 24, 1932, Napa Co., California, m. 1880 at Sunnyside Farm, Napa Co., Calif. to Madison Lafayette Durbin, who was born in 1848 near Cordalia, Solano Co., Calif. (one of the oldest living Native Sons - 1933). Children: 1. Russell Madison Durbin, b. Mar. 23, 1882, Glen Ellen, Sonoma Co., California; m. (1) Helen Brown of Walnut Grove, California.

Robert Brownlee left his home in Scotland when 23 years old; news of the big fire in New York with many mechanics needed caused him to go there. He had a letter of introduction to David Sterling, a stone mason, who put him to work; here he saved money and four months later went to North Carolina. In 1837 he moved to Little Rock, Arkansas, where he remained a year; he bought a farm of 360 acres of govt. land at $1.25 per acre. Later he prospected for lead and was nearly killed in a blast. While recovering he became acquainted with a Scotch family, named Lamont, who were most kind; he used to joke with the younger daughter and on leaving for California told her he would come back and marry her after he made his fortune (all a joke, as she was but 14 years old). He began to prepare for the trip to California - John W. Clark of Montpelier, Vermont was one of his loyal companions. They had much to do getting wagons, mules, saddle horses, guns, etc., beside food ready. About sixty wagons joined the party; the wagons were carefully examined and every person had to show he was in good health, or he could not go. This was in 1848.

To go back: Robert Brownlee received his naturalization papers in 1839, and in 1840 cast his first vote for General Harrison and Tyler; in 1892 he voted for Harrison's grandson for President of U.S.

To continue the California trip: they went through Oklahoma Territory, by Pico Mission, at the junction of the road from St. Louis to Santa Fe, through the pass of the Rocky Mts. in which Gen. Kearny was attacked by Mexicans in 1846; on to Santa Fe, then to Albuquerque where preparations had to be made to cross the Rio Grande. Arizona Territory was next to be crossed and Tucson was reached, the largest town since leaving Santa Fe. The Colorado river was crossed in July - large logs of cottonwood were cut and lashed together to make a ferry. Soon Warner's Ranch was reached, then San Bernardino and on to San Pedro. They traveled on up the coast, frequently using wet sand - passed Ventura, Santa Barbara and San Louis Obispo, springs called Pasa Robles, not far from San Miguel Missiion (abandoned). They left St. John's Mission and arrived at Gilroy then on to San Jose, a small town of five or six adobe houses with two stores, run by a white man. He told them of the Mariposa mines so they decided to go there. After mining for a time, Mr. Brownlee and Mr. Clark started a store and did well. In 1852 he went home to Scotland to visit his mother and returned to Arkansas to visit his brothers, Thomas and James. Here he met the Lamont girl again, now eighteen and beautiful. He courted and won her. They went to New York, were married and came to California via the Isthmus of Panama. They settled in Vallejo, Calif. Mr. Brownlee's brother, Thomas, married Mary Lamont and they came to California at the same time.

The Union Hotel in Vallejo, owned by Mr. Brownlee was built of corrugated iron, in sections, brought from England by Captain Myriat, son of the great novelist, via Cape Horn.

Robert A. Brownlee, the first child born in Vallejo, was born in the Union Hotel.

Later property was bought in Napa County, California, and this same material, corrugated iron, was part of the barn. The property was surveyed and bought from the government in 1856 and has remained in the family's possession.

Note: A detailed account of the trip across the plains in 1848 may be found with the original paper.

Thomas Brownlee settled in Vallejo, California, then went to the mines in Virginia City, Nevada. He returned to Vallejo and worked in the machine shops on Mare Island (Government Navy Yard).

The Hinderliter House, a clapboard covered log structure on the National Register, is the oldest existing house in the city, built between 1826 and 1828. The brick Georgian-style Noland House, built in the 1840's, probably by Robert Brownlee, is believed to have been the temporary residence of Lt. C.F.M. Noland, an early political and literary figure. William E. Woodruff, the founder of the Arkansas Gazette, the oldest newspaper west of the Mississippi, lived at the corner of Second and Cumberland where Gazettes are now printed in the restored printing shop. The other major structure is thought to be the home of fifth Governor Elias Conway.

In 1972, the Restoration acquired the remainder of the block for a Reception Center and open space.

B. A. Sanders Letter to Osceola Times
Springdale, Washington Co., Ark.
Dec. 29th 1884

Editor Times: Dear Sir,

In order to comply with my promise to my numerous friends in Mississippi County; it being almost an impossibility to write them individually, I have concluded to drop a short communication through your valuable paper; knowing it to be almost universally read by the good people of my old County. I doubt that I shall be able to interest them, or that my communication will be considered worthy of space in your paper; but if not, you can commit it [to] the scrapbasket, and no harm will be done.

We started on our move from Dead Timber, Mississippi Co., Aug. 11th, 1883, and did not arrive here until about the 25th of October, owing to illness to my family. My wife was taken ill in Stone County, near Mountain View, and I was compelled to lie over about seven weeks. She recovered so as to be able to travel, and we then proceeded to this place. I have not space or time to give a full account of our journey, suffice to say that I do think we traveled over the most mountainous and rocky route through the State. We traveled through Poinsett, Jackson, Independence, Stone, Searcy, Perry and Boon, also a part of Madison and Benton counties; a distance of about 400 miles. I never had the least idea that there were so many rocks and hills, brooks and vales in Arkansas, until my experience in this move, but through the guidance and blessing of all wise providence we arrived safely at our destination. My family are all regaining their health, and are all satisfied with the country. We have located in Springdale, a nice little town on the Frisco railroad, which is a branch of the St. Louis & San Francisco R.R., running to Van Buren on the Arkansas river. This is a busy and thriving little town, beautifully situated in a nice level country, ten miles south of Fayetteville, and ten or twelve miles north of Rogers, in Benton county, in the north-east corner of Washington county, about twenty-five miles from the Nation line.

This is the best watered country I have ever seen, it is not so rich as Mississippi county, but the soil is sufficient to make a good living on. They raise no Cotton here, Wheat, Oats, Corn, Potatoe, Rye and all kinds of Vegetables grow well here, but it is, and will be more valuable as a fruit growing country than any other one product, the farmers are turning their attention universally to fruit growing. We have fine schools here, and people take great interest in schools and school facilities, and we have a large brick College in this place sufficient to accomodate about 300 pupils, the Free School is being taught at it now, with 250 pupils in attendance; this is a place of about 900 or 1,000 inhabitants; and a more sociable, courteous and generous-hearted people I never saw, plain and unassuming, no aristocracy, the people are not stuck-up and aristocratic as a great many are there, you cannot tell anything about a man's financial condition by the clothes he wears; but everyone who conducts himself well, and is considered honorable and honest is respected alike. Several of the religious Denominations are well represented here, and a majority of the business men and adult citizens are church members. The Old Baptist, Missionary Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopalians, and Cambellites, all have organized Churches here, there are three fine Churches in town, one brick and two framed. About twenty-five or thirty business houses, one large flouring Mill, one large Wool and Cloth Factory, five Blacksmith Shops, wagon and buggy shops, etc., and a Masonic Hall and Odd Fellow's Hall; also a splendid Brass Band, and upon the whole a very desirable place to live. It is certainly as healthy a country as there is in the west, and I see no local cause for sickness, and there is certainly more old gray headed men and women here than any place that I have ever lived, and the children are almost innumerable, and speaks very loud for a healthy country. Land is not as high as would be expected, but is advancing very fast and emigration is pouring in from every direction; public lands are pretty much all taken up, that are worth anything. Prices of stock and produce are as follows; Horses from $30 to $100; Mules $50 to $150; Milch Cows from $20 to $40; pork from 3 1/2 to 4 cents; flour good and best grades $2.75 per hundred; corn 25 cents per bushel; and other things in proportion. This country is well watered by small creeks that run all the year, and abound with fine fish; game is scarce here excepting squirrels and quails to, which are plentiful.

I will be pleased to answer any communication from my friends in Mississippi county.

Respectfully,

B. A. Sanders

To the Editor of The Gazette.

"Stolen - Near Little Rock, Ark., on the Arkansas river, about forty-eight or fifty years ago - a girl."

Your correspondent interviewed the aforesaid girl this morning, she now being a woman who appears to be about 50 years old, and the following statement was freely made:

While playing along the shore of the river with a brother and sister younger than herself, a little boat came along on which was a showman by the name of Wright, as she afterwards learned, the principal exhibits being his wife, who was an armless woman. Mr. Wright, seeing the children, landed his boat, came ashore and caught her up, carried her aboard and shoved out. He wandered around several years, exhibiting his armless wife, finally, settling in Harnusville, Brown county, O., where he died. She thinks her mother's name was Martha Miller, who had red hair; does not remember her father's first name, but remembers he was killed by the Indians a few nights before she was stolen. His hair was black. She does not remember whether they lived above or below Little Rock, but thinks it not more than four miles away, and close to the river bank. She thinks she is about 56 years old, but she has not the appearance of being over 50. Please give this place in your paper. If it should come under the eye of any of the old settlers who remember the circumstance and can give any information to her relatives, it will be highly appreciated by a poor woman who has shed many tears over the fact of so far not being able to learn anything of her family. Please address. Yours Truly, J.N. Patton. Ark. Gazette, Tues. March 31, 1885, p6, c1.

DIED - In this city (LittleRock) April 6, 1885, of meningitis, Wm. S. Roland, at 7 o'clock a.m. Funeral from Lutheran church, corner Rock and Eighth, at 3 o'clock p.m. Ark. Gazette, Tues. April 7, 1885, p1, c6.

The following information was extracted from the Arkansas Reports located in the University of Arkansas Law Library, Little Rock, Arkansas. Only those counties with missing records were researched. These volumes are of legal intent, therefore, most of it involves use of legal terms and discussions of decisions which are not common to the lay person. Only genealogical data was extracted from this information. No legal discussions of the cases are included because they are lengthy, contain legal terminology and are of little value to the genealogist. Often the first names were omitted and sometimes little information on the case as it was determined in the lower court was included in the report.

GREENUP D. WOMSLEY against WILLIAM CUMMINS
Error to Crawford County Circuit Court

Action of debt commenced by WILLIAM CUMMINS against GREENUP D. WOMSLEY (Crawford County), and MARTHA TRIMBLE, alias PATSY RIGGS (Washington County). Opinion was that the summons issued to Washington County was erroneous, inasmuch as the place of holding court was not set forth therein. The Circuit Court should not have permitted CUMMINS to proceed further in his suit. The judgment of the circuit court was reversed.

County, and MARTHA TRIMBLE, alias PATSY RIGGS (Washington County). Opinion was that the summons issued to Washington County was erroneous, inasmuch as the place of holding court was not set forth therein. The Circuit Court should not have permitted CUMMINS to proceed further in his suit. The judgment of the circuit court was reversed.

WILLIAM GAGE against REUBEN MILTON
Appeal from Carroll County Circuit Court

Suit brought in Carroll County on a promissory note. "... land granted by the patent was situated 5 or 6 miles of Little Rock and that it was not of the description set forth in the patent and endorsements, he would make it as good, and that he had title to the land, and a right to sell it; further, that in conversation with another witness, the plaintiff said that he had long ago known that the land had been sold for taxes."

The patent to JOHN BAXTER, being also in evidence with the following endorsement:

"For value received, I assign the within deed to REUBEN MELTON, this 13th day of October, 1835." Signed WM. "X" GAGE.

Action of debt commenced in Carroll County by WILLIAM GAGE against REUBEN MELTON, described in the declaration as a promissory note, but being in reality a writing obligatory, executed to him by MELTON for $206.

Opinion: Ruling of the circuit court reversed with cost and a new trial granted. Remanded to the Carroll County Circuit Court for further proceeding.

BROWN, Executor of PHILLIPS against HICKS, adm. of PHILLIPS
Appeal from Crawford County Circuit Court

Actions of detinue, brought, as the parties described in the declaration by ARTHUR HICKS, administrator of JOHN PHILLIPS, deceased, against, RICHARD S. BROWN, executor of the last will and testament of THOMAS PHILLIPS, deceased, for a mulatto woman slave.

Entered as evidence: A bill of sale for the slave in question from ELLENDER PHILLIPS to THOMAS PHILLIPS (executed and recorded in Kentucky).

Witness J. D. McGEE: "...whose place of residence was in the county of Crawford, had left the county and gone to Washington City, about a week before commencement of that term of court and so was absent from the state." Elsewhere it stated that McGEE was expected to return to the state in a few months.

Witness SAMUEL PHILLIPS: "Stated that he was the son of JOHN PHILLIPS, the plaintiff intestate, and being one of his children entitled to a distributive share of his estate, but that he was not interested in the event of the suit, because he had received his share of said estate from THOMAS PHILLIPS, when the latter was administrator of said estate."

Entered as evidence: A bill of sale for negro in controversy, from THOMAS PHILLIPS to JOHN PHILLIPS and NELLY, his wife, executed in Franklin County, Kentucky, 14 May 1822 and witnessed by SAMUEL PHILLIPS. Recorded October 27, 1823. (Note: In another section NELLY PHILLIPS is printed as ALLY PHILLIPS).

Excerpts from the declaration:

RICHARD C. S. BROWN, executor of the last will and testament of THOMAS PHILLIPS, deceased, was summoned to answer ARTHUR HICKS, administrator of JOHN PHILLIPS, deceased ... that he render unto ARTHUR HICKS a certain mulatto woman slave named Sylvia, about 35 years of age.

ARTHUR HICKS upon the 1st day of May, 1837, Crawford County, deliver the slave, Sylvia, belonging to and part of the estate of JOHN PHILLIPS, deceased, of great value, to wit, value of $1,000 to be delivered to RICHARD C. S. BROWN.

ARTHUR HICKS refused to deliver said slave, therefore, this suit was brought.

New trial awarded.

BALL against KUYKENDALL
Error to Crawford Circuit Court

An action originally instituted before a Justice of the Peace, and founded on a writing obligatory. The process was served on KUYKENDALL alone, (note: no first name given), against whom judgment was entered by default, and he appealed to the September term of Circuit Court. He filed a plea in abatement alleging that the plaintiff who had sued by the name of B. B. BALL, was known by the name of BENNETT B. BALL, and not B. B. BALL.

ALEXANDER OLMSTEAD against SEABORN HILL
Error to Crawford County Circuit Court

Regarding testimony given in circuit court:

SEABORN HILL had purchased a parcel of goods with his own money, and employed

ALEXANDER OLMSTEAD to superintend the store, and sell them out, and agreed that he should have as a compensation for his services and attention to the business one third of the profits. In the goods themselves, OLMSTEAD had no interest, he had advanced no part of the capital, and was not responsible for any losses which the concern might sustain. It was also in evidence that OLMSTEAD controlled and managed the business of the store. It was a general understanding of the neighborhood that they were partners. After most of the goods had been sold, OLMSTEAD voluntarily left the store.

Opinion: There was no joint ownership of the funds. The defendant merely acted as clerk or agent. Judgment of the circuit court upheld.

JESSE SIMPSON against ROBERT McDONALD
Error to Pike County Circuit Court

The plaintiff agreed to build for the defendant a saw mill that would cut fourteen feet of plank per day, and a grist mill that would grind up 75 to 80 bushels of corn meal per day; and if the mills failed to perform as stipulated, he would receive no compensation for building them.

The mills turned out to be worthless and had to be rebuilt.

PHILLIPS and MARTIN against The Governor for use, etc.
Error to Crawford County Circuit Court

An action of debt, on an administrators bond, commenced by JAMES S. CONWAY, Governor of the State of Arkansas, and for the use and benefit of SAMUEL DENNIS and others as heirs of DAVID TRIMBLE, deceased, against plaintiffs in error, together with GREENUP D. WOMSLEY, on the bond of WOMSLEY as administrator of the estate of DAVID TRIMBLE, deceased in which the plaintiffs in error were securities.

Excerpts from the breach:

"DAVID TRIMBLE, deceased, at the time of death possessed a large estate of goods, chattels, slaves, notes, accounts, dues and effects, to wit: $20,000, which then and there came to the hands, possession and knowledge of GREENUP D. WOMSLEY, admr. Yet WOMSLEY, admr. failed to make an inventory as required by law.

"...nor have they or either of them, paid the distributive shares due and payable to the said SAMUEL, ELVIRA, MARINA, ROMULUS AND ALFRED". Note: The said Samuel would be Samuel Dennis, but are all the others named Dennis also? They were heirs of David Trimble, could some of them been named Trimble? Also, Martin's name was not mentioned at all and Phillips was mentioned by name as Thomas Phillips, deceased. This would be deceased since the date of declaration, 22 August 1834.)

BROWN, Executor of PHILLIPS, against FLEMING, Assignee
Error to Crawford County Circuit Court

The above suit was held at a special term 23 December 1839 before special judge, NATHAN HAGGARD.

Opinion: A special judge appointed by the Governor, to sit in a certain court, in cases where the regular judge is incompetent to sit, cannot hold a special term; and all proceedings before him at such special term are null and void.

WALLER, et al vs The State

Appeal from Franklin County Circuit Court

ALFRED WALLER, HENDERSON WALLER, and ROBERSON WALLER

Indictment for larceny of a horse, tried Sept 1841 in Franklin County

"...One CORNELIUS (no first name given), who was indicted, but not taken, told MANUS (no first name given), the witness, in presence of ALFRED WALLER that it was a good time to steal the horse. ALFRED assented to it and the other two WALLERS, HENDERSON and ROBERSON, went to look for a mare. Upon return told the witness it was a fit time, not only to steal the horse, but also, to steal the mare. They engaged him to run the horse; the witness got provisions from HENDERSON WALLER, and a gun from ROBERSON WALLER. ROBERSON WALLER left his saddle at the back of the field and gave him a clean shirt to wear, and HENDERSON WALLER gave him a counterfeit dollar, and they appointed a place to meet the witness. HENDERSON WALLER and CORNELIUS came a short time afterwards having with him the horse; that witness took him and, two days afterwards, with the saddle ROBERSON furnished swapped the horse to RANES (no first name given) for a grey mare, and subsequently passed the mare to ALFRED WALLER for $30 in store.

ALFRED WALLER told another witness that MANUS had stole the horse and swapped for a grey mare; and he must say nothing about it. That if he did, he would not live one hour and that MANUS had plenty of friends to assist him.

Judgment affirmed.

NICKS heirs et al vs RECTOR

Crawford County Circuit Court

Suit in Chancery Court, Crawford County, 1841, before Hon. RICHARD G. S. BROWN, one of the circuit judges.

RECTOR filed his bill in 1828 in which he stated that in December 1828, or early January, 1829, WILLIAM DUVAL and PETER A. CARNS, then partners, rented out WILLIAM MORSE a log house, standing on the northeast fractional quarter of section 8 in T.8 N., R 32 W in Crawford. William MORSE was living on the land as an actual settler.

WILLIAM DUVAL and PETER CARNS took possession of the house and occupied it as a store-house.

Two instruments of writing: 29 June 1829, and 28 July 1829, MORSE sold to DUVAL and CARNS all his rights title, etc. reserving the privilege of taking off the crop then growing.

1829, DUVAL and CARNS dug a well, cleared part of the land, cultivated turnips, built and enclosed a house that they occupied up to 1833, the same being public land of the United States, and as actual settlers and cultivators became entitled to pre-emption right on the land, under the act of 1830. The tract contained 136 acres.

21 January 1829, WILLIAM MORSE and JOHN NICKS entered into agreement that on or before 15 May 1829 NICKS should be allowed to locate on the land any donation claim under the act of 24 May 1828.

NICKS did not locate previous to 15 May 1829 and submitted he had no power to locate afterward.

In May or June 1829, MORSE demanded payment from NICKS, but NICKS refused to pay because no location had been made due to want of surveys not returned to the land office.

MORSE revoked his consent to location. Demanded return of the agreement, NICKS refused, but consented to revocation. After the revocation, MORSE sold to DUVAL and CARNS his rights, etc. to the land for $595. October, 1829, they sent an agent to the land office at Batesville to locate a donation claim.

October, 1829, while DUVAL and CARNS were actual settlers on the land, the exclusive owners of improvements thereon with all rights and titles "against all the world" except the United States, and when no other person was occupant of the land, except as tenants of DUVAL and CARNS; NICKS located the land, at the land office in Batesville with a donation claim granted to ANDREW MATHEWS, and deposited, in his own name, in the General Land Office, the requisite certificate of such location, to enable NICKS or his heirs to obtain a patent for the land. Prior to May 1831, a patent issued to NICKS on the location. The location was made without consent of DUVAL and CARNS.

16 April 1832, ANDREW MATHEWS executed his deed for the land to the heirs of NICKS. That the location was made by NICKS with full knowledge that DUVAL and CARNS were actual settlers, and with the deliberate intention of defrauding them, and depriving them of the rights vested in them by the act of Congress.

May 1831, DUVAL went to the land office in Batesville and offered land officers there proof to establish right of pre-emption of DUVAL and CARNS to the land under the act of 1830, which they refused to receive, on the ground that the land had been previously located by NICKS.

Then DUVAL made application for redress at the General Land Office, from which instructions were sent directing the land officers at Batesville to take the proof which both parties should furnish and to forward to the General Land Office.

JOHN NICKS died in the latter part of 1831 or early part of 1832 leaving two minor children, JOHN Q. NICKS and ELIZABETH P. NICKS, and a widow, SARAH P. NICKS who later married ROBERT S. GIBSON.

When NICKS' location was made, the land had not been offered for sale by the United States. After proof of pre-emption had been taken, DUVAL purchased of CARNS all his interest, etc., for which CARNS executed a deed to him 10 December 1832 for $500. On 4 February 1837, DUVAL sold and conveyed to ELIAS RECTOR all his interest, etc. No person claims any title to the land, except the heirs of NICKS, GIBSON and his wife (SARAH P. NICKS) and RECTOR.

The heirs of NICKS instituted an action of ejectment against DUVAL, tenant in possession under RECTOR, for recovery of the land.

CURRY BARNETT and MATHEW MOORE had affidavits proving right of DUVAL and CARNS, taken November 18, 1831.

September term 1839, ROBERT S. GIBSON and wife (widow of NICKS) answered: (This is only partial) Stated that DUVAL and CARNS rented the log house as stated. Denied knowledge of contract by MORSE with DUVAL and CARNS. Learned from rumor that DUVAL and CARNS bought from MORSE with full knowledge of previous purchase by NICKS. That NICKS purchase was not abandoned or revoked. That DUVAL and CARNS, expecting the land to increase in value, persuaded MORSE to get off from or disregard his contract with NICKS and sell to them, and go to Fort Gibson to rescind the contract. That he told DUVAL and CARNS that NICKS had refused to abandon his contract, that they had bought with full knowledge of the facts. That they knew NICKS refused to rescind the contract when MORSE went to Fort Gibson, and told MORSE that he intended to perform his part of the contract and that he (MORSE) should perform his.

Admitted that DUVAL and CARNS resided on the land. Admitted that the location of NICKS was after the date mentioned in the bill. Denied that MORSE demanded money from NICKS. Admitted improvements made by DUVAL & CARNS and continued by RECTOR.

Case continued March term 1840.

In December 1840, the complainant filed a supplemental bill stating that the value of the land was at least $3,000.

SAMUEL L. GRIFFITH married ELIZABETH Q. NICKS (Notice that elsewhere the initial was "P" and the brother's initial was "Q") was afterwards made a party.

From the deposition of JAMES HERVEY: Well acquainted with WILLIAM MORSE and JOHN NICKS. That they both were dead. NICKS was living at Fort Gibson, west of the present State of Arkansas. That he went with WILLIAM MORSE from Fort Smith to Fort Gibson. MORSE had bought a number of horses for which he had not paid and he went to Fort Gibson to get money from NICKS to pay for them. NICKS told him he had no money. MORSE demanded money or give him back his bond. NICKS replied, "Damn the place! I don't believe I can save it with a donation claim." That DUVAL & CARNS took possession of the store-house in the fall of 1828 and occupied it until 29 July 1829 at which time (it being a double log building) occupied one part as a store-room, and the other as a sleeping room and were boarding with MORSE who lived in another house on the same land. That they lived on it through 1829 and 1830 with DUVAL & CARNS, or DUVAL alone resided on it and DUVAL was still residing on it. MORSE moved away from it. HENRY MAHON (a witness to a deed of MORSE) died about six years ago. NATHAN BARNETT (witness to MORSE deed) left Arkansas for Kentucky about four years ago, and has never been heard of since, and is supposed to be dead. THOMAS J. DUVAL (first mention of Thomas J. Duval; must have been a witness to one of the agreements) is not now in this state.

From deposition of JOHN ROGERS: "...DUVAL came on with his family, in 1829, thinks in the summer, certainly before fall. Late in the fall of 1829 MORSE moved away with his family from the tract. Stated that he had seen JOHN W. FLOWERS (witness on NICKS' note promising to pay MORSE) and JOHN NICKS write and verified their signatures.

Our thanks to Phyllis Arnold for this contribution. Another source of genealogical data that is sometimes overlooked.

DISTRESSING OCCURRENCE - It becomes our painful duty to record the death of John English, Esq. a worthy and valuable citizen of Hempstead county. Whilst engaged in tending his cotton gin, one of his hands was caught by the machinery; in endeavoring to extricate it, the other was caught, and both drawn in. Before assistance could be rendered, his arms were mangled in a most shocking manner. He survived the unfortunate accident only a few hours. Ark. Gazette, Dec. 29, 1821.

1840 Census Cape Girardeau County, Missouri, Byrd Township
Cardwell Smith, males 3 (0-5), 1 (30-40), females 1 (10-15), 1 (20-30)

Cardwell B. R. Smith is listed on the following census records:
1850 Clark County, Arkansas
1860 Scott County, Arkansas
1870 Scott County, Arkansas
1880 Polk County, Arkansas

The parents of Cardwell Smith are listed in Goodspeed's "Southern Arkansas", page 167.

Cardwell was a son of Millington and Barbara (Barton) Smith born respectively 1770 and 1779 in Edgecombe County, North Carolina and died 1835 and 1833 in Johnson County, Illinois. Millington was a son of Willis Smith, American Rev. soldier and grandson of George Smith, born in Ireland and came to North Carolina before 1776. Barbara was a daughter of James and Mary (Duncan) Barton. James Barton's will is listed in 1804 in Logan County, Kentucky.

Millington Smith is listed on the 1800 census of Spartanburg Dist. South Carolina. Members of the Barton family are in both Greenville and Spartanburg Dist., S.C. in 1800. Several families removed to present day Todd County, Kentucky, where Cardwell Smith was born in 1808.

2nd Wife: Hettie Riffe
Born 1 February 1822 Jackson County, Alabama

OBITUARY OF DANIEL A. BOONE

Transcribed at the Library of Congress on 11/15/85 and submitted to us by Dr. Richard D. Mudd of Sagnaw, MI. This appeared in The Baltimore Sun Sunday, Feb. 15, 1902, p. 7, col. 8:

Mr. Daniel A. Boone, head of the wholesale wine firm of Daniel A. Boone, 103 West German St., died yesterday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock at his residence, 919 N. Calvert St. Mr. Boone had been in failing health for two years, his final illness setting in several weeks ago. Death was due to a general breaking down of the system.

Mr. Boone was a native of Frederick Co., and was born on June 19, 1831. He was the son of the late Benedict Boone, his mother having been a Miss Belt. He was educated in Holy Cross, Worcester, Mass., and later at Georgetown College. At the outbreak of the Civil War, Mr. Boone went to Virginia and joined a cavalry regiment. He saw gallant service, and later was transferred to the Q'master-General's Department, with headquarters at Little Rock, Ark. It was here that he met Miss Melanie Carroll, the daughter of Hon. David Williamson Carroll of Little Rock, who was a member of the Maryland family of Carrolls and who had moved to Arkansas from this state. Miss Carroll afterward became his wife.

After the War, Mr. Boone came to Baltimore and, with the late Robert A. Jamison, founded the firm of Boone & Jamison. At the death of Mr. Jamison, the name of the firm was changed to Daniel A. Boone & Co. Mr. Boone is survived by a widow and seven children--Messrs. William S. Boone, of Little Rock; R. Sanchez Boone, Charles Louis Boone, Edward D. Boone, Mrs. Ferdinand C.* Dugan, and Misses Clara and Ellen Boone.

Mr. Boone was a member of St. Ignatus Catholic Church. He was an active member of St. Ignatus' Council, Catholic Benevolent Legion, and at one time he served as Chancellor of the State Council of the Legion. He likewise took great interest in the Society of St. Paul de Vincent. Mr. Boone belonged to the Society of the Army and Navy of the Confederate States in Maryland, of which he was at one time the vice president, and gave much time and effort to promoting the welfare of the Confederate Home at Pikesville.

Mr. Boone enjoyed an enviable reputation for charitable impulses and was of a kindly and generous disposition, which won him a host of friends.

* Cumberland Dugan, a merchant of Massachusetts, settled in Baltimore in the early 1800s.

Our sincere thanks to Dr. Mudd for providing this material to us.

BOOK REVIEWS

Bobbie Jones McLane

A review and/or announcement of books contributed to the Arkansas Genealogical Society. These books are housed permanently in the Local History and Genealogy Room of the Little Rock Public Library. The Society expresses its thanks to the authors for their generous contributions.

LEE OF PRINCE GEORGE COUNTY, VIRGINIA Nathaniel and Bushrod, Southside (below the James River) Lees, their stories in Virginia and Arkansas, by Kathryn Lee Smith, 603 Tenth St., Zephyrhills, FL 34248. 116 pp., soft covers, indexed. Mrs. Smith has done an excellent job in chronicling this branch of the Lee family. Nathaniel Lee, Sr. first appears in the land patents of 1748, as owner of 150 acres of new land in Prince George Co., VA. Among his children was Bushrod Washington Lee, born 1809, who became a doctor and moved to Arkansas Territory where he married Isabella Douglass in 1841. He lived here the remainder of his life, in Pulaski and Jefferson Cos. and died in 1876. Ms. Smith has used numerous Arkansas resources and has presented her history in not only a very readable, but documented form. Obviously, much time and effort, as well as thorough research, was devoted to its compilation.

HISTORY OF THE FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH OF NEWPORT, ARKANSAS, 1874-1884, by Elliott McDonald McManus. 438 pp., including many photographs and portraits of ministers and church workers, fully indexed. Hardback binding, $24.95. Mrs. McManus has recorded the events in the life of this church in chronological order over its first 110 years, emphasizing the individuals who were behind these events. She used a wide variety of sources--the records of the quarterly conference, the official board, Sunday School and women's organizations were supplemented by articles from the church and local papers, deeds and mortgages and interviews with members of the church. A complete list of members of the church from 1897 to 1984 is included in an appendix, dates of membership, marriages of women and dates of death. Another appendix contains a listing of the marriages and infant baptisms recorded in the church registers from 1897 to 1947. An excellent example for other churches to follow in detailing their histories. Order from First United Methodist Church, P. O. Box 489, Newport, AR 72112.

GUIDE TO FAULKNER COUNTY, ARKANSAS, LOOSE PROBATE PACKETS 1873-1917 By Desmond Walls Allen, Henryetta Walls Vanaman and Connie Olds Trent. Ms. Allen continues making resource material available in her area of the State with this publication which grew out of a project to sort and organize the Faulkner Co. probate packets. 55pp., strip bound, alphabetically arranged, $10.00. May be ordered from Desmond Walls Allen, P. O. Box 303, Conway, AR 72032. Probate packets are generally filed by case number, not by surname; therefore, this book is particularly helpful to individuals searching in this county. The loose probate packets were found in disarray scattered about, jumbled in grocery cardboard boxes, heaped in a basement storage vault at the Faulkner Co. Court House. The authors volunteered to sort and organize the documents in alphabetical order by surname. A very brief extract of each case folder was made and an index of persons not already listed in alphabetical order in the text was prepared. These records will be microfilmed at the Arkansas History

Commission to insure preservation of the material and increase its availability to researchers. Would that more enterprising people such as Desmond Allen and her associates undertake such projects in other counties!

THE HELLUMS FAMILY 1765 to 1984, by Earle C. Hellums, 365 pp., hard bound. No price shown. Mr. Hellums address in the book is shown as 2425 Fountainview, Suite 300, Houston, TX 77057. Beginning with John Hellums, Sr. in Laurens Co., SC, this record documents and includes information on all of the known descendants of John Hellums, Sr., over a 128 period from 1765 to 1893. The history begins in South Carolina and extends through Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, and ends in Arkansas and Texas. We might wish, however, that Mr. Hellums had indexed his material. Some researchers, relying on indices, are bound to miss material which is well presented and documented.

WASHINGTON COUNNY, ARKANSAS MARRIAGES BOOKS D-E-F-G-H-I, by Lois N. Miller. This index lists marriages from 23 Nov. 1871 to 9 July 1891. Book, page, bride and groom, ages of each person and marriage date are included. Included are 52 marriages found in a separate slender volume entitled "Negro Marriages 1868-1875". Other than for these years. Black marriages are found in the regular marriage books. Complete bride's and groom's index. 194 pp., soft bound, postpaid $20.00, and hardbound, postpaid $25.00. Excellent material for anyone researching Washington Co. families. order from the author at 1126 Sunset Drive, Fayetteville, AR 72701.

1890 PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX LIST, JEFFERSON CO., ARK., Transcribed and Indexed by the Jefferson Co. Genealogical Society. This publication is a reconstruction of the 1890 census of Jefferson Co., and consists of all persons listed in the personal property tax records by Township and School Districts. All business places are shown and, in cases of partnership, both names are indexed. The book contains a complete index and was compiled by the local society under the direction of the Arkansas History Commission in celebration of the Arkansas Sesquicentennial. Order from the Society, P. O. Box 2215, Pine Bluff, AR 71613 at $10.00 a copy.

1890 SALINE COUNTY, ARKANSAS TAXPAYERS by Carolyn J. Billingsley, compiled as a substitute for the missing 1890 census. To insure greater accuracy, the assessed book, the paid book and the receipt book were all used. The names are grouped by school districts, as they are in the tax books. A full-name index with 2651 entries. Soft-cover with velo-binding, the book contains 103 pages, with two maps, one of which shows the location of each of the 56 school districts in existence at that time. Price is $12.50, plus $1.25 postage. Order from C. J. Billingsley, 270 Midland Road, Alexander, AR 72002

POPE CO. HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION QUARTERLY, Volume 19 (1985) Six issues were bound and donated by Elaine Weir Cia. Mrs. Cia says that some of these issues are no longer available and we sincerely appreciate the donation to the AGS Library. 335 pages of varied Pope Co. material. Memberships may be obtained from Mrs. Cia, Editor, $7.00 per year, 4200 "A" Street, Little Rock, AR 72205.

THE HISTORY OF LAWRENCE, JACKSON, INDEPENDENCE AND STONE COUNTIES OF THE THIRD JUDICIAL DISTRICT OF ARKANSAS by S. W. Stockard, Reprint, Originally published 1904, this is an indexed edition donated by James Logan Morgan, and may be ordered from Morgan Books, 314 Vine Street, Newport, AR 72112. In the introduction to this 235 page volume, Mr. Morgan states Sallie W. Stockard's 1904 history of these counties is based on historical records, but contains much of what would now be called "oral history". In the 1950s Miss Jenny Belle "Jane" Lyle (1896-1986) of Little Rock, compiled an index, which has been added to this reprint. $16.00 postpaid.

CITIZENS OF THE REPUBLIC OF TEXAS, published by The Texas State Genealogical Society (close out sale at $20.00) hard bound, fully indexed, 564 pages. Each entry includes the name of the Citizen, Birth and Death dates, Father, Mother, Residence in Texas before and during the period of the Republic of Texas, the Spouse and Marriage Date, if available, and their children. 5,855 names. An excellent reference and research tool concerning the Citizens of the Republic of Texas. Order from the Society, 2515 Sweetbriar Dr., Dallas, TX 75228.

THE SEED OF SALLY GOOD'N: A Black Family of Arkansas, 1833-1953. Dr. Ruth Polk Patterson's history of her own family reveals much of the politics and social history for this period in Arkansas. The book has its origins in a project undertaken by Dr. Patterson, a teacher in the Little Rock School District, that involved archeological excavations at the site of a log cabin built by her grandfather, Spencer Polk, himself the son of an African-Indian slave Sally Good'n, and an early white settler of Arkansas Territory, Taylor Polk, who lived in the Muddy Fork community in Southwest Arkansas. The remote area is near Nashville, in Howard Co. The book is enhanced by illustrations, notes, bibliography and a genealogical appendix. It is beautifully designed and printed by the University Press of Kentucky, Lexington, KY 40506. Hard-bound, 183 pp., $19.00.

Including a SASE (self addressed stamped envelope) almost insures a response when you are asking for information.

Have you submitted your family Bible records to AGS for publication?

Q U E R I E S

Prepared for publication by Bobbie J. McLane

Material submitted for this 'Query Section' must pertain to an area of Arkansas at some point in time. If the name of the County is known and included, it increases your chance of receiving replies to your questions. Always give a full name and a date for reference.

Queries are limited to members only. It simplifies the work of the all-volunteer staff of this publication if you send your queries with your membership fee. Continue to send to Arkansas Genealogical Society, P. O. Box 908, Hot Springs, AR 71902-0908. Queries should be confined to about fifty words.

There is no time table for printing your queries. We work several months ahead of the actual appearance of this quarterly. If you send multiple queries, we will use only one - and the others as space permits, so it may be some time before your 2nd, 3rd, etc. appear.

Prayer

by an unknown Confederate Soldier

I asked God for strength, that I might achieve -

I was made weak, that I might learn humbly to obey.

I asked for health, that I might do greater things -

I was given infirmity, that I might do better things.

I asked for riches that I might be happy -

I was given poverty that I might be wise.

I asked for power, that I might have the praise of men -

I was given weakness that I might feel the need of God.

I asked for all things, that I might enjoy life -

I was given life, that I might enjoy all things.

I got nothing that I asked for - but everything I had hoped for.

Almost despite myself, my unspoken prayers were answered.

I am among all men, most richly blessed.....

GENEALOGY POX

Symptoms: Continual complaint as to need for names, dates and places. Patient has blank expression; is sometimes deaf to spouse and children. No taste for work of any kind, except feverishly searching through old records at libraries and courthouses. Compulsive letter writing. Swears at mailman when no mail is left. Frequents strange places, such as cemeteries, ruins and remote, desolate sites. Makes secret phone calls at night; hides phone bills from spouse. Mumbles to self, with strange faraway look in eyes.

No Known Cure

Treatment: Pox is not fatal, but gets progressively worse. Medication is useless. Patient should attend genealogy workshops, subscribe to genealogical magazines and be given a quiet corner in the house where he can be alone.
